

Brief CV of Anjul Agarwal

I am responsible for the growth of the Asian Publication Corporation journals portfolio from India. My role includes improving the quality of existing journals to agreed revenue and profitability targets. I am responsible for studying the new trends in the publishing industry and introducing new technologies in our journals which are in use by the other International Journals. I have also launched two new journals by name of Asian Journal of Organic and Medicinal Chemistry, Asian Journal of Materials Chemistry. Two new journals are in the launching stage. I have also been able to provide various technical services to two journals published as International Journal of PharmTech Research and International Journal of ChemTech Research

Area of Expertise:-

- Strategic Planning & Leadership
- Team building
- Ability to leverage experience and work across diverse industries
- Committed team player
- To grow revenue and increase market share in a highly competitive market environment
- Launching new journals
- Collaborating with Journal Publishers to assess their journals and provide them help/services to improve their quality.
- Organizing International Conferences
- Organizing International Workshops

I have completed my Masters in Computer Application from IGNOU, New Delhi and hold a B Level from DOEACC, New Delhi.

Anjul Agarwal

Manager

Asian Publication Corporation

<http://asianpubs.org/content/>

<http://www.asianjournalofchemistry.co.in/Home.aspx>

<http://ajomc.asianpubs.org/Login.aspx>

<http://ajmc.asianpubs.org/Login.aspx>

Co-publishing:

<http://www.sphinxsai.com/chemtech.php>

<http://www.sphinxsai.com/pharmtech.php>

asianpubco@gmail.com